

Water in the West: A Science Policy Roundtable

Dec. 8, 2016 | 5:30-7:30 p.m.

Reception: 5:30-6 p.m. | Moderated Discussion with Q&A: 6-7:30 p.m.

The Great Hall, UC San Diego

Presented by the School of Global Policy and Strategy's Science Policy Fellows Program and the Scripps Institution of Oceanography's Science Policy Discussion Group, this roundtable will explore the sources of California's water supply, how it is used throughout the state and best practices for optimal regulation of its use.

PANELISTS

Marty Ralph (Moderator)

Director, Center for Western Weather and Water Extremes, SIO

Sandra Kerl

Deputy General Manager, San Diego County Water Authority

Jennifer Burney

Assistant Professor, GPS

Daniel Cayan

Director, California Applications Program and Research Meteorologist, SIO